CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Baha'is believe that Baha'u'llah, the faith's founder, whose title means the Glory of God, is the promised one of all ages. Not only are his teachings in perfect harmony with the teachings of God's messengers who preceded him, but they address the condition of humanity today. He writes, "A Baha'i denies no religion; he accepts the Truth in all and would die to uphold it. He loves all men as his brothers, of whatever class, of whatever race or nationality, of whatever creed or color, whether good or bad, rich or poor." (Abdu'l-Baha in London, page 56)

Mam-Yassin Sarr is a Baha'i. Growing up, she attended a Baptist kindergarten, a Methodist elementary school and a Catholic high school. She was born into a Muslim family.
