
DAILY INSPIRATION

RABBI DANIEL FELLMAN CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Above the door of my study hangs a sign that says “Da Lifnai Mi Atah Omed,” or “Know Before Whom You Stand.” The sign reminds me of the sanctity of all people as I leave my study, and as a beacon of light as I welcome people. And when I am alone, a quick glance at it reminds me of my own relationship with The Almighty. This shared holiness unites us all. So easily we see the differences that separate us. But, with a simple sign containing universal wisdom, I choose to daily remind myself of what we share, that which connects us and elevates us.

Daniel J. Fellman is rabbi of Temple Concord in Syracuse. He serves on the Board of Trustees of InterfaithWorks, is chairman of the organization’s Spiritual Care Program Advisory Board and is vice convener of the Round Table of Faith Leaders.
